Q5. Project Name:

Q6. Can we feature your story online through our social media (@UTownUBC) and website?

Yes

No

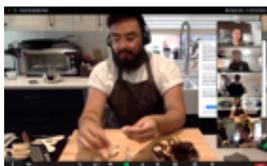

Q9. Tell us how your project went!

Helpful details to include are: how did you plan/promote your project, the community impact your project made, how did you overcome challenges, what did you learn.

Please also include any metrics, such as: number of participants, volunteers, volunteer hours, packages created, etc.

The community project went very well and the participants had a great time! The community impact we made was that the individuals who participated were able to learn new cooking skills that they can carry on outside the project. In addition, we also created a permanent community cookbook that individuals all received after the zoom cooking class. It was great that we were able to share our favourite recipes with one another! Challenges: Difficult to find a time for pick up and delivery that suited everyone's schedules. Finding a recipe to cook was difficult because it needed to be cost effective and satisfy all the dietary restrictions people may had. Delivery and planning the routes was very time consuming. Promotion: We promoted the project through UBC Facebook groups. Participants: We had a total of 26 participants. Volunteer: two volunteers Packages created : 26 packages Volunteer Hours: 20 hours for drafting sign ups, responding to emails, organizing with the chef, marketing the event, delivery and hosting the event.

Q15. Please upload at least one photo from your project. You can upload a maximum of three files with your report. If you have more photos or media files to share, please email the remaining to info.utown@ubc.ca
